

Library Newsletter October 2017

Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness

It's that lovely time of year when the leaves turn fiery shades of orange, red and gold and my mother recites the first line of Keats' famous poem without fail. As the evenings get longer, there's nothing better than to curl up with a good book and we have quite a few new ones in the library to choose from. I'm currently reading a spooky story called The Silent Companion, which is full of suspense. What are you reading?

Remember Wednesday afternoons!

The library is now open after school on Wednesdays, until 4pm. Why not call in you're your family or friends and show them around and share a book or two with them?

Philip Pullman's new book

On Thursday 19 October, Oxford author Philip Pullman's latest book La Belle Sauvage will be released, 17 years after The Amber Spyglass was published. It's an event that harks back to the Harry Potter days, when people would queue for hours to buy the latest instalment at special midnight bookshop openings. We hope to get the book soon, but why not pop into the library to read some of his other works, particularly His Dark Materials trilogy?

Meet Sabeen – one of our library helpers

I am lucky enough to have a few library helpers in Years 5 and 6, who help me keep the library looking tidy, and who help out with the younger children. This is a message from one of them, Sabeen in Year 5:

"The School Library is popular with people who love reading, drawing and much more. It attracts upper key stage 2 because once you are in year 5 and 6 you get a job and help out. I have a job and work on Thursdays with the Y1s and Y2s. It's for all years and every couple of months there is an event/competition. People are always bursting to come in and there is normally a crowd at the door. I spoke to Grace in Y1 and she said, "I really like doggy books!" By Sabeen, Y5

Library lunchtimes

Monday:	Closed
Tuesday:	Years 3 and 4
Wednesdays:	Years 5 and 6
Thursdays:	Years 1 and 2
Fridays:	Closed

There will be a limit of 15 people in the Library at any one time.

Joke corner

What is the strongest creature in the world?

The snail. It carries its whole house on its back.

That's all for now, folks! See you soon!
